Spain is the 5th largest industrial economy in the EU with privileged market access to Europe, Latin-America, North Africa and Mediterranean countries.

Modern Industrial sectors, qualified and competitive human resources, excellent scientific base and technological infrastructures and a favorable business climate, are key competitive factors driving foreign investment in innovative technologies and products into Spain.

Spanish Industrial Innovation System is prepared to be at the forefront of new Nanotechnologies and Industrial production of Nano-materials (in particular Graphene) and Nano-products in Europe.
